rocco, and Sald They Would Try to Take Her Into One of the Ports

New Yo .. Oct. . .- Somewhere far out in the Atlantic, off the Florida coast, half a dozen men, perched on the roof of the afterhouse of the waterlogged British schooner Sirocco are struggling against wind and sea to reach a Cuban port with their almost helpless charge.

The plight of the men is due in part to the heroic devotion of their captain, who when help was at hand chose to face death rather than abandon his ship and her cargo of lumber. He declined an offer of assistance from the steamer Parima, which ran down to him last Sunday when he was wallowing in the seas, 600 miles east of Florida.

The captain asked only that he be given supplies to replace those which were rulned when his ship filled with water, When this request was granted the captain and his crew settled down in their precarious quarters on the roof of the afterhouse and announced their determination to sail the Sirocco to Cuba.

The Sirocco sailed from St. John, N. B., Sept. 27 with a cargo of lumber for Cardenas.

On Oct. 5, when off the coast of Maryland, she ran into a fearful hurricane. Pounded and battered by wind and sea, the Strocco was thrown about like a cork, some of her seams were ripped open and she began to

Before the storm had abated her null was filled, her decks awash and the deck houses were flooded.

Black Killed His Guard In Much the Same Manner That He Murdered His Own Wife, For Which Crime He Was Serving Time.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. L. -At Flat Top mines, in the western part of this county, where are located state convict prisons, J. A. Hilley, are anywhere from half a dozen to aged 63 years, a guard, has been murdered by William Fain, a negro, who was serving a life sentence for the murder of his own wife ten years

> Fain was a "trusty," working in the hospital department of the prison. It was discovered that he had made a hole in the stockade fence and through it was passing food to two negro women on the outside.

> Hilley was stationed at the hole to catch Fain, when the negro learning of the fact, approached the guard from behind and brained him with an axe. Fain and another negro convict, who was under suspicio..., were placed in adjoining dells, and later Smith told the story of the murder. When Fain was brought out of his cell he managed to procure a bottle of carbolic acid from the store room of the hospital and swallowing its contents, died in awful agony.

Hilley was from Tifton, Ga., to which place his body was shipped. Fain killed Hilley in much the same manner that he murdered his own

The firemen first devoted themselves to the people on the second and third floors, and did not then need the screams of the people above. Many persons in the interior of the building were already overcome by the dense smoke and had to be carried out by the firemen. But many were able to escape down the ladders without assistance.

After getting every one they could find out of the second and third floors, the firemen turned their attention to the people above.
